Routes into Post Compulsory Education & Training (PCET)

PGCE/PCE PCET

Are you considering a career teaching adults or young people in further education, higher education, alternative, adult or community education?

Perhaps you want to deliver training sessions within a work-based environment or apprenticeships?

Our two year part-time professional teaching qualification will enable you to teach or train in a wide range of post-16 education environments including prison education, sixth forms, pupil referral units and private training organisations.

There are two courses available:

- Professional Graduate Certificate of Education PGCE PCET
- Professional Certificate of Education PCE PCET

Catrin Cousins,
PGCE PCET
Graduate

Professional Graduate Certificate of Education PGCE PCET

is for graduates looking to teach their degree subject or any subject they are qualified in to Level 3 or above. Graduates should also be teaching or actively seeking teaching in the post-compulsory sector of education and training.

What our students say:

"Outstanding support from tutors – they put students first."

"The PGCE qualification has unlocked many doors and possibilities in my life and professional career."

"The course perfectly combines theory with plenty of opportunities for teaching practice which gave me the skills and experience necessary to develop a successful career in education as I'm now a lecturer in fashion buying and marketing."

Catrin Cousins, PGCE PCET Graduate

Professional Certificate of Education PCE PCET

is for students who have a Level 3 qualification and wish to further their experience in their subject area by teaching in the PCET or lifelong learning and skills sector.

Both courses are participative and interactive, using inclusive student centred teaching methods.

What you will study

- The role of the teacher, trainer, tutor
- The ways in which personal motivation can impact upon learning
- Techniques and teaching methods that promote successful and inclusive learning
- How adults learn
- How to design, deliver, assess and evaluate a lesson
- Reflective practice
- Practical teaching hours in your specialist subject area

Entry requirements:

You will require the following qualifications in the subject you intend to teach:

PGCE PCET – Degree (or equivalent)

PCE PCET – Level 3 qualification (A Level or equivalent)

Preparing to Teach in Post Compulsory Education (PCET)

Do you need a teaching qualification to register with the EWC or are you looking to gain experience of teaching adults / young people in further education, higher education, alternative, adult & community education, then the Preparing to Teach in Post Compulsory Education (PCET) qualification is the right course for you.

This ten week short course is designed as an introduction to teach post-16 learners, offering a comprehensive teaching toolkit to build your confidence for teaching or delivering sessions.

What you will study

- The role of the teacher, trainer in post-16 education
- The ways in which personal motivation can impact upon learning
- Techniques and teaching methods that promote successful and inclusive learning
- How adults learn
- How to design, deliver, assess and evaluate a lesson
- Potential progression routes for further study to the PGCE PCET or PCE PCET

Entry requirements: A qualification at Level 3 (A Level or equivalent) in the subject you intend to teach.

Assessment: The course is a 10 credit Level 4 module equivalent to module one of the PGCE/PCE Post Compulsory Education and Training (PCET) programme which is assessed via coursework.

"Completing the Preparing to Teach in PCET helped me to gain credits and continue seamlessly onto the PGCE PCET course at Cardiff Met. I chose the part-time route to be able to study around other commitments."
